

January 1950 Class To Hold Junior Prom

Patricia Horstmann

Evelyn Waugh To Give Talk

An address by Evelyn Waugh, famous English author, on the subject, "A Spiritual Odyssey," will be given at the Maryland Casualty Auditorium on February 8, at 8:30 p. m.

Proceeds from the affair will go to the Loyola College Memorial Chapel Fund, according to the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President.

Wrote Best Sellers

Waugh, the author of such best sellers as "The Loved One," his latest success, "A Handful of Dust," "Scoop" and perhaps his best known "Brideshead Revisited," will discuss his subject with reflections on Monsignor Ronald Knox, Gilbert Keith Chesterton and Graham Greene.

An outstanding contemporary writer, Waugh is a good friend of Fr. Talbot, and the proofs of his 1946 best seller "Brideshead Revisited" were presented to the Loyola College Library last year.

Given Honorary Degree

Waugh was the recipient of an honorary degree at the inauguration of Fr. Talbot as President of the college in December, 1947.

Tickets for the address, open to the public, will be on sale both at the Campus Shop in the basement of the Library Building and at the Bonney Concert Bureau. Prices range from $1.21 to $2.41.

Sheraton Belvedere Site On February 4; Slade Plays

by Thomas J. Garrity

Members of the class of January 1950 and their dates will pay homage to the muse Terpsichore at their Junior Prom February 4 from 9 until 1 in the main ballroom of the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel.

Prom Chairman John Schuster announced last week that "F-Day" will be the keynote of the advertising campaign. "It is the First and Finest Festivity of Forty-Nine on Friday, February the Fourth. All students are urged to come since it is the only Loyola formal scheduled to date for this semester."

Miss Patricia Horstmann, partner of class president Edward J. McNeal will be prom queen.

Slade To Play

Music for the affair will be supplied by the orchestra of Bill Slade according to word received from orchestra chairman Samuel Proctor last week.

Daniel Rochowiak will serve as ticket chairman, Carroll Smith will act in the capacity of publicity chairman, Paul Tiralla and Harry Shock will handle the program and John Paynter, favors.

Tickets have been on sale the past two weeks in the Campus Shop and a booth in the cafeteria. Ducats may be purchased for $5.00 by class members and $4.00 by members of other classes. Only 150 are available, so students are urged to get tickets early.

Door Prizes At Games

In cooperation with the athletic office publicity chairman Carroll Smith instigated a plan whereby invitations to the dance would be offered as door prizes at the American University and Washington College basketball games Saturday, January 22 and 29.

The winners will be selected by drawing a stub from the student tickets turned in at the games. All students attending each game are eligible to win.

"Besides obtaining publicity for the Prom," Smith said, "we hope to give Loyola basketball a boost by doing our bit to insure a full house at these two games."

July 1949 Class Wins Spirit Contest With 60% Attendance

The class of July 1949 has been named the winner of last month's school spirit contest, based on percentage of attendance at the Loyola-University of Maryland basketball game.

Emil (Lefty) Reitz, Athletic Director, on behalf of the Athletic Association, announced the winning class following computation of the percentages of each class.

60 Per Cent Attend

The winning class, with 109 of 182 members present, had a 60 per cent record, while the January 1950 section, 41 per cent with 40 out of 107 present, was second. Next in line were the classes of July 1951 and July 1952.

July 1949 class officers Eugene Welsh, Samuel Phelps, Medio Walddt and William Schulz gave special credit to Richard Haislip and Martin Klein for the success of the contest.

Reitz, when presenting the class with the twenty-five dollar check, said, "I am glad to see the classes united in their efforts to back the teams of Loyola. The Block L and Athletic Department have attempted to accommodate all reasonable requests."

Class Seating Possible

Reitz mentioned that it would be possible for particular classes to be seated together at basketball games if ample notice is given.

Richard M. Anderson

Death Claims Loyola Soph

Richard Meredith Anderson, sophomore in the Business Administration course, died accidentally on Christmas morning. He was 24 years of age.

A member of the July 1950 class, Anderson attended Baltimore Polytechnic Institute and the Veterans' Institute before enrolling at Loyola in September, 1947. While at Poly, he was a member of the swimming and golf teams.

Played Golf

Following graduation from high school, he served in the Army Air Corps, was promoted to Staff Sergeant, and received the Silver Star for distinguished service.

Anderson was a member of the championship golf team at Loyola last spring.

Survivors Named

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Norma Anderson, their daughter Linda, who was nine months old last week, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Anderson, Jr.

He formerly resided at 763 McKewin Avenue.

January Class Will Graduate With May Group

The class of January 1949 completes its regular college course today, and will leave Loyola following completion of semester examinations next week.

The first large post-war class to enter Evergreen, the group is composed mainly of service veterans. Entering in January 1946, the class completed six semesters and three spring terms according to the three-year system.

There are fifty members in the class, the plurality being students in the Business Administration course. Joseph Raphel is president.

Graduate June 5

Although they finish this month, members of the class, one of three sections to be graduated in 1949, will wait until June for their commencement exercises.

The January and May groups will be graduated from the Evergreen Gymnasium as the first part of the 1949 commencement on June 5, while the July group will be graduated later.

Two Graduation Ceremonies

Members of the graduating classes, particularly the July group, petitioned the Very Reverend Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President, asking that two separate graduations be held this year, due to the large number of students in the senior class.

Heretofore, Loyola has had the custom of conducting one graduation per year. Father Talbot, accepting the class suggestion, decided on the two-ceremony plan, each to be a separate part of the college's ninety-ninth commencement.

Day, Potter, Doehler To Present Lectures On British Commonwealth In Night School

Under the auspices of the Evening School and Adult Education, Mr. Price Day and Mr. Philip Potter of the Baltimore Sun will present a series of lectures on the British Commonwealth beginning with the new semester later this month, the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., Dean, has announced.

Dr. Edward A. Doehler, of the faculty of Mount Saint Agnes College and of the Loyola Evening School, will assist Mr. Day and Mr. Potter in the course, which will be held on Thursday evenings at 8:20 p. m. beginning January 27.

Problems To Be Discussed

The political, social and economic problems of the United Kingdom, the Dominions, India and the British Empire since World War I will be discussed during the course, registration for which began on January 3 and continues until January 22.

Mr. Potter, a graduate of the University of Minnesota in 1934, has worked for the Sun since December,

Dr. Edward A. Doehler

1941. He was City Editor for two and a half years during the early part of the war, then went as war correspondent to China, Japan and Korea. Assigned to the Washington Bureau upon his return, he was sent back abroad in May, 1947.

His tour of the Middle East included Turkey, Greece, Palestine, Egypt, Transjordan and Syria. He was later sent to cover the early stages of the German blockade.

Registration for the Evening School and Adult Education's courses beginning the week of January 24 closes on January 22. Over sixty courses are being offered under degree and certificate programs.

Day Writes On India

Mr. Day, whose early lectures will be based on the Union of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, is presently at work on a series of articles to be printed in The Sun on the first year of India's self-government.

Mr. Day has already completed a series entitled "Crisis in South Africa", while Mr. Potter's "Retreat to the Desert" has also been printed.

Lemmon New President
In Rifle Team Election

Vernon Lemmon was elected President of the Rifle Team in elections held immediately before the Christmas holidays. Stanley Stone received the vote for Vice-President and Henry Hupp for Secretary-Treasurer. John Young took the post of Executive Officer.

The University of Pennsylvania is offering the team their first opposition this season in a rifle match held this afternoon at the Calvert Hall Range. Nearly twenty members will participate.

"For Heaven's Sake"
Is Record Of Month

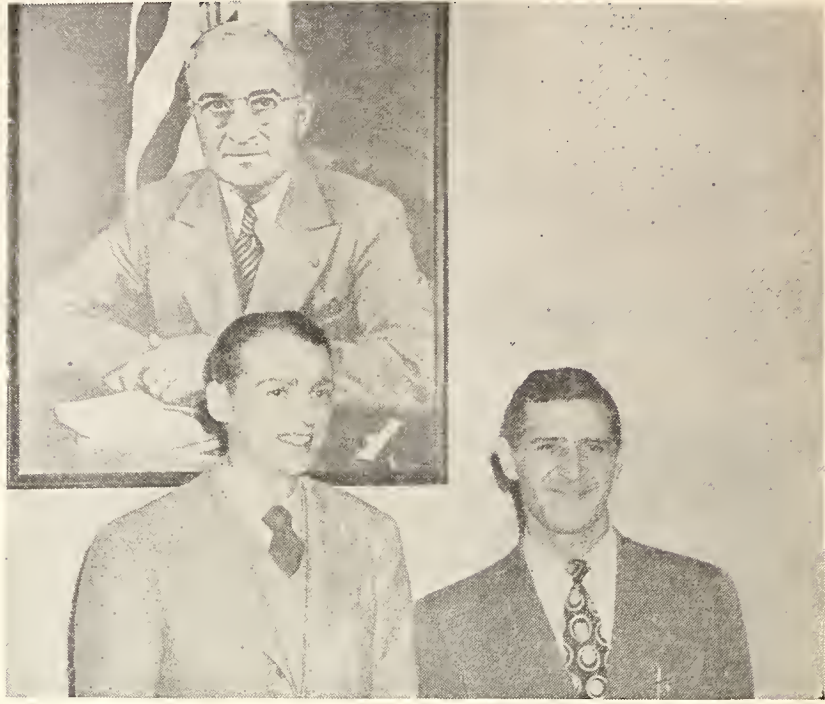

by Richard Coleman

I hate to bore you by mentioning it again but the everlovin' ban is off. Columbia Records was the first to record after the ban but no one, so far, knows what they cut. Victor followed them in about an hour (it took Como that long to get in from Long Island). Their first two sides were done by this here Mr. Como to the tune of "Far Away Places" backed by "Missouri Waltz", respectfully dedicated to Mr. Truman.

It was good to hear the great studio stuff of Mr. Russ Case again backing Como. For my record dough, Case has the best studio recording band with the exception of only Paul Weston on Capitol.

Young Elliot Lawrence, who owns an orchestra which records for Columbia Records, has a pleasing arrangement of a song called "Left In The Corner". The vocals are capably cared for by Rosalind Patton and Jack Hunter. Nothing great, but good listening.

Our record of the month is presented to the public by Claude Thornhill, French horn and all, with his nimble fingers blending the blacks and whites to the tune of "For Heaven's Sake". When Fran Warren croons this tune, she really means every word she says. If you haven't got this one—get it!

Croghan, Lanci
Enlist In Army

Proof that advertising pays and that college alumni do read the college paper was borne out recently when John J. Croghan, Jr., '48 and Ralph Lanci, '48, were sworn into the Army as second lieutenants.

Both will report to Fort Benning, Georgia, for orientation training and then report to their assigned posts, Lanci to the Adjutant General's Department and Croghan to the Coast Artillery.

According to the new officers, the ad in the November 5 issue of THE GREYHOUND was instrumental in helping them make their choice of a career.

Physics Club
Elects Meagher

Francis J. Meagher was elected to the presidency of the Angelo Secchi Academy of Physics at its last meeting held on Friday, December 17, 1948. Ignatius M. Griesacker was chosen Vice-President and William Taylor received the vote for Secretary-Treasurer.

In stating the projects of the Physics group, Meagher said "I believe that these projects will be accomplished by active participation of each member, by informal discussions of his pet project, together with trips to points of interest to physicists."

Testudo Returns

Testudo, the University of Maryland's 450-pound bronze terrapin mascot is back—with a new look. Gone for nearly two months from its traditional campus pedestal, it was returned covered with green and grey paint and inscribed with "Loyola beat Maryland".

Three Loyola 'natives' returned Testudo on December 28 to the Maryland campus. His return was delayed by the Christmas rush.

Herman Pens Musical Score

George Herman, student-composer-playwright, has been commissioned by Mr. Lyle MacDonald, director of the Sparkettes of Baltimore, to pen the 24-song score for the forthcoming production "We Want To Be Alone Together" which will be produced in March.

Some of Herman's music from this show will be reproduced on local television shows and three songs will be played at the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund Entertainment at the Lyric in May. The premier of the show will take place at the Aberdeen Theatre, and the following presentations will be held at the St. John's Theatre on Greenmount Avenue.

The script was penned by Raymond Thompson and Donald Kirkley, Sunpapers writers. Among the score by Herman are the new songs "Falling" and "Weary Weather".

"Mystery Of The Niche" Causes Wide Discussion

The Niche

The Critilog

by George Herman

Based on the assumption that "the play's the thing" and "good will to men", I hereby submit these theatre resolutions to various individuals with sincere hopes that they will be kept—for a little while, at least.

To all "Epic-makers": Hereby swear that you will no longer go back into two to nine generations of a family in order to tell a story as you did in "Enchantment".

To the Academy Award Council: Hereby swear that Jane Wyman will get the Award this year for "Johnny Belinda"—and thus, make retribution for the error of your ways in not giving it to her last year for "The Yearling".

To the Producers: Hereby swear that Coleen Gray, who stole "Red River" with only ten lines, will get better and longer roles in the near future.

To Publicity Men: When you have a good picture like "The Last Days of Pompeii" with a beautiful story, swear you will not try to build up the pre-publicity as something salvaged from the garbage can.

To Studios In General: Hereby swear to sign Max Steiner to a long-term contract so that he can have better opportunity to turn out Academy-Award-quality background scores like the one for "Johnny Belinda".

"What's that niche for?" is the question that Loyolans are asking one another as they stand and gaze at the School's latest mystery.

The niche that they are talking about is located between the two windows just above the Science Building's main entrance. It is approximately six feet high and two feet wide, with a small pedestal at the bottom and an electric lamp at the top. But beyond this, the niche is a mystery.

Faculty Quizzed

In response to many student queries, THE GREYHOUND tried to get information on this subject. Many of the faculty members, including the Dean, were asked about it.

None of them, however, seemed to know anything about the mystery niche, and some asked, "Which niche?"

Student speculation on the matter was, to say the least, interesting. One school of thought, attended mostly by glassy-eyed freshmen, observed sagely that the thing was once occupied by person or persons unknown, or vice versa.

A second group, composed primarily of history majors, didn't profess to know the purpose of the niche, but stoutly maintained that George Washington slept there.

More Student Views

A militant minority contended that the niche is really no niche at all. One faction of this group, predominantly physics majors, held that the niche is probably an architectural blunder—probably a built-in blueprint fold.

A dramatic club member opined that it is Harvey's residence—hence the apparent emptiness. One of the basketball squad thought that the U. of M. boys pinched whatever was in the niche the same day we stole Testudo.

Still In Quandary

Carefully examining these diverse opinions, we find that we are back where we started. All we know is that there is a niche, that it is empty, and that this is abnormal.

In the public interest THE GREYHOUND is offering a reward of $10 (Confederate), five old, worn-out textbooks and an autographed photo of the niche for authenticated information leading to a solution of the Niche Mystery.

Typical Teacher Makes New Year's Resolutions

by Frank Gallagher

According to the time-honored custom established by the vegetarians, this is the accepted time to formulate New Year resolutions. It has since been pointed out that the occurrence of New Year's at this time makes it even more appropriate to do so. Therefore we are taking the liberty (and it's not really a liberty) of printing a set of such resolves made by a typical college teacher, who for the lack of name, shall remain anonymous.

What constitutes a typical college teacher has always been a matter of considerable conjecture. It was only after a lengthy meeting with Madame Peerless, the globe-renowned tea-leaf reader, that I was able to make any progress. No, you fool, not with Madame Peerless.

With a characteristic disregard for my personal safety, I have decided to proceed and set them here below. Realizing that insurance rates are on the upswing, I have arranged for the final disposition of my earthly possessions and find that I really didn't have much to dispose of. I am left alone—Among My Souvenirs. (The preceding three words constitute this column's guess at the Mystery Tune.)

And now—on with the show. (Sound of martial music.) Someone is muttering Invictus sternly. A teacher enters from the rear; he carries a scroll from which he reads. But hush—shut up—

TEACHER: I regretfully resolve to treat students like human beings instead of fugitives from a slaughterhouse.

I resolve to be fair in marking and to discontinue giving highest marks to students making weekly pilgrimages to the place of my birth.

I resolve to forego using jokes from Aristotle's Book of Pithy Puns.

I resolve to stop asking questions which I, myself, am not capable of answering. This will limit me. But justice above all.

I resolve (sob) to stop asking questions not connected with the matter assigned for the test.

I resolve (sighs, many sighs) to admit occasionally that I am wrong and the student is right.

(Sound of pistol shot and dull thud of a cadaver dropping to the floor of the lecture platform.) Curtain.

Other engagements included that of John Herrmann, of the May '49 Class, to Miss Margie Richardson on December 14, and that of Martin B. Miller, to Miss Betty Lee Walston on December 25.

The engagement of John A.

Grimm, ex-'47, to Miss Margaret Sonnerman was also announced.

The engagement of Miss Betty Ellis to James P. O'Connor, July '49, was announced last week. O'Connor is the son of Senator and Mrs. Herbert R. O'Connor.

College Ball

Followers of college sports are an unpredictable lot. Several weeks ago in Philadelphia, LaSalle was playing a top-flight western quint. Somehow the giant center from LaSalle was unable to click as he had been in the previous seven games. For more than twenty minutes, he was booed and jeered for his every attempt. The victory-hungry crowd had forgotten that this same player whom it was hampering by its belligerent attitude had been the principal reason for the splendid record the team had compiled. They refused to acknowledge that he was still giving his best even though results weren't achieved.

Later in the game, he began to hit the hoops consistently. The crowd forgot its anger and began to cheer him and urge him on as if he were William Penn himself. It is doubtful, however, that this basketball player forgot what had happened earlier that evening. He realized how fast was the drop from hero to goat.

Baltimoreans and Loyola students in particular can learn a lesson from their neighbors up North. Don't make the mistake of attacking a man when he's giving his best. You never know when he's going to make you eat your unkind remarks by a return to form.

When you attend an athletic contest, remember that the men performing are not supposed to be the only sports at the event.

Letters

Football Again

Dear Sir:

In the November 19, 1948 issue of THE GREYHOUND, under "Football At Loyola College", you ask "Is it worth it?" My answer is, "Yes, It is."

(Per Curiam: It is ridiculous to suggest that Lacrosse and Baseball may need to give way to "Spring Practice". Soccer might have to go, but that remains to be seen.)

George J. Miller, Jr., '43

Ed. Note: Mr. Miller is not alone in his contention. We have been reminded by many persons that other colleges manage to support a football team along with teams representing lacrosse and baseball. However, the question of sufficient facilities seems to constitute an impasse.

No Interest

Dear Sir:

As a student interested in the Loyola basketball team, I am writing to express my dismay at the support given it by the majority of Loyola students. Relatively few students support the quint as it should be. Considering the size of the student body, we should have twice as many of the students attending the games.

If any other college had a team comparable to ours, the enthusiasm would be boundless. But at Loyola, we get the same dull response.

Name Withheld

Ed. Note: Amen.

Transit Blues

The Christmasy decision of the Public Service Commission to grant the Baltimore Transit Company an increase in fares is going to cost the Loyola College student ten dollars more per year to ride to and from school. This raises the yearly cost of transportation to fifty dollars a year per student.

Naturally, the average citizen is not going to be happy about the increase regardless of whether or not the boost was necessary. We are not foolhardy enough to wage battle with the accountants of the Transit Company who maintain that the increase was a necessity. They should know their business.

However we are ready to take our stand on one issue about which we have come to know plenty. That is service. It does not take a college education to ascertain that the service in the morning is inadequate. Radar is not necessary to detect that jammed humanity on the No. 11 bus. The crowds of people who are forced to stand on the corners waiting unreasonable lengths of time for the buses know how sad the plight is.

We are aware of the defects. We feel that the BTC is aware of them. Our hope is that now that the increase has been granted, the transit officials will better conditions on the lines. We don't ask for miracles. We don't even demand seats. All we want is adequate service.

42 Chem Club Members Tour Refining Plant

Forty-two members of the Chemistry Club toured the refining plant of the Standard Oil Company last Monday. They were accompanied by the Rev. Edward S. Hauber, S.J., and Dr. Henry C. Freimuth, both of the College faculty.

After the tour, six executives of the Standard Oil Company answered questions concerning the type of work and the opportunities to be had in the oil industries.

The tour was a part of the Chemistry Club's plan to acquaint science majors with the various positions and occupations which a science degree enables them to undertake.

Pacing The Pack:

Heavy Divisions Hold Key To Loyola Wrestling Goal

by Mickey Parr, Sports Editor

Though Loyola's wrestlers were downed in their first match of the 1949 season, 17 to 11, at the hands of Johns Hopkins, they can write that one off to experience and still concentrate on coming out on top in Mason-Dixon circles.

For, in wrestling, as in swimming and a couple of other sports, the championship is decided at the annual conference tournament. Actually, the mat team does not shape up as badly as its opening score indicates. The boys haven't yet rounded into top form, and potentially loom as top-rank contenders.

The nucleus of the squad is built around the heavier weight divisions, but the lighter grapplers are coming along nicely. Defending champions Jeep Mueller, Carter Beese, and Steve Krizan, the team's heavyweight, 175-pounder, and 145-pounder, respectively, can pass along a wealth of know-how.

Franny Meagher, 1946 165-pound champion, hasn't been bothered by his layoff in the Army and has an excellent chance of recapturing the crown. And it's about time the law of averages caught up with Mus Bower, who has been runner-up in the 155-pound class for two years running. He's due for a better break.

The veteran Beese is a real competitor whose abilities are on a par with the better wrestlers in this area.

LaSalle Lists An Olympic Champion

It isn't often that an athlete who is the best in the world in his specialty, comes to display his wares at Loyola, but such will be the case when Joe Verdeur arrives with LaSalle College's swimming team on January 22. Among countless other feats, Verdeur has established world's records in the 200 meter and 200 yard breaststroke. He gained his greatest fame in the London Olympic games last summer, when he grabbed first place in the 200 meter breaststroke in the record-smashing time of 2:39.3.

Powerful as the Explorers are, our own Greyhounds are touted as a very formidable outfit with Jake Fisher, Jack Blondell, Clint Bamberger, Andy McCormick, John Mohler and Freshman Earl Schmidt leading the way. An upset victory would make these boys the toast of the campus.

It seems that your correspondent has made a dual slip during the past few months. Working under the notion that even the marriages of athletes are strictly social column affairs, a little culpable neglect has crept in. Sincerest wishes of life-long happiness and success are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lacy, and to Mr. and Mrs. Nick Kropfelder.

Xavier Set Back, 74-72

In the most bitterly-contested game of the season thus far, Loyola's basketball team edged out Xavier University, of Cincinnati, 74 to 72, at the Evergreen court on January 4.

Bob Anderson set the pace for the night with 26 points. The game was highlighted by such plays as a perfectly placed, backhand bounce pass from Bob Anderson to Jim Lacy for an easy layup. The lead changed hands seven times through the game, while the score was evened up ten times.

Zedalis Scores First

Lew Hirt's Musketeers took possession of the ball at the opening of each half, but each time failed to score until Loyola started the point getting. Mike Zedalis started the night right by racking up the first two points of the evening. Xavier tied it and then took the lead, holding on for ten minutes, until Anderson tipped in a layup and a free toss, setting the score at 16-all.

Xavier regained the lead until Anderson again knotted the count with a field goal and Jim Lacy, poised on the outside, sent a two-pointer through the cords. Xavier tied it, but Lacy made a free throw, giving the Evergreeners a one point edge, 37, to 36, at the end of the first half.

Score Tied At 65-All

The Green and Grey kept the lead up to the closing minutes, when Jim Alston scored two for the Ohioans, putting a 65 to 65 mark on the scoreboard. Anderson picked up three on a field goal and a free one. Xavier evened it, 68 to 68. Bill Johnson cached a free throw.

The Muskies went ahead, at 70 to 69, on two foul shots. Andy O'Donnell then knotted the count, shooting from the line, 70 to 70. The invaders went ahead by one point, but O'Donnell scored two more fouls for a Greyhound lead, and after the

Matmen Win At Towson

Loyola's wrestling squad evened its log at one and one against Mason-Dixon opponents last Friday afternoon by whitewashing Towson State Teachers' matmen, 34-0, at the Towson gym.

Carter Beese, Mus Bower and Jeep Mueller, three of Coach Phil Goodman's brightest stars, performed especially well, as they outclassed their adversaries completely.

Mueller Overpowers Opponent

Huge Jeep Mueller, wrestling in the unlimited class, resorted to sheer power, rather than cleverness, in overcoming his tricky opponent. Carter Beese (175-pound class), needed only four and one-half minutes to drop his man.

In one of the more exciting matches, Mus Bower had to go all-out to defeat his opponent in the 155-pound class. In the lightweight divisions, John Mercaldo displayed his wrestling skill to advantage, as he walked off with a 4-3 triumph shortly after Bob Weiss had started the Loyola victories with a win in the 121-pound bracket.

Loyola Quint Rallies To Overcome Detroit

In a holiday basketball game at Evergreen on December 22, Loyola rallied in the second period to defeat the University of Detroit, 66 to 58, after trailing 28 to 27, at half-time.

Jim Lacy, with his accurate outside shooting, and Bob Anderson, operating off the pivot, led the attack for Loyola, each collecting 13 points. However, it was John Kirwan, the Titans' tall forward, who captured scoring honors as he dumped in 17 points on eight baskets and a free toss.

Zedalis Scores First

Mike Zedalis started the scoring for the evening when he connected on a charity throw. Moments later, Anderson dropped in a field goal and added a foul shot to put Loyola in front 4 to 0. Kirwan then flipped in a free throw for the Detroiters' first point.

For the first ten minutes, the Greyhounds held a slight lead but Warren Hintz, netting a one-hand push shot, evened the count at 17-all midway in the half.

Game Evenly Fought

During the remaining minutes of the first period, the two teams fought it out evenly until Kirwan, withbut twelve seconds to play, batted in a rebound to give the Titans their half-time lead.

The second half seemed as though it was going to be a repeat of the first as the lead changed hands several times, until Loyola gradually pulled away to a commanding lead. An eight point sortie by Lacy and Zedalis raised the score to 46 to 38.

Kirwan then added two points for the Cardinal and White but the Greyhounds rolled on to a 55 to 42 advantage, with nine minutes remaining in the game. During the closing minutes of the contest, Loyola applied the freeze, and the Detroiters could get no closer than seven points at 57 to 50.

Hopkins Gains Mat Decision

The Johns Hopkins wrestling team marred Loyola's grappling debut on December 17, with a 17-11 victory on the Evergreen mats. The test marked the initial Mason-Dixon meet of the season for both teams, and was practically a repeat of the finals of the Mason-Dixon tournament of last season when Hopkins defeated Loyola for the championship.

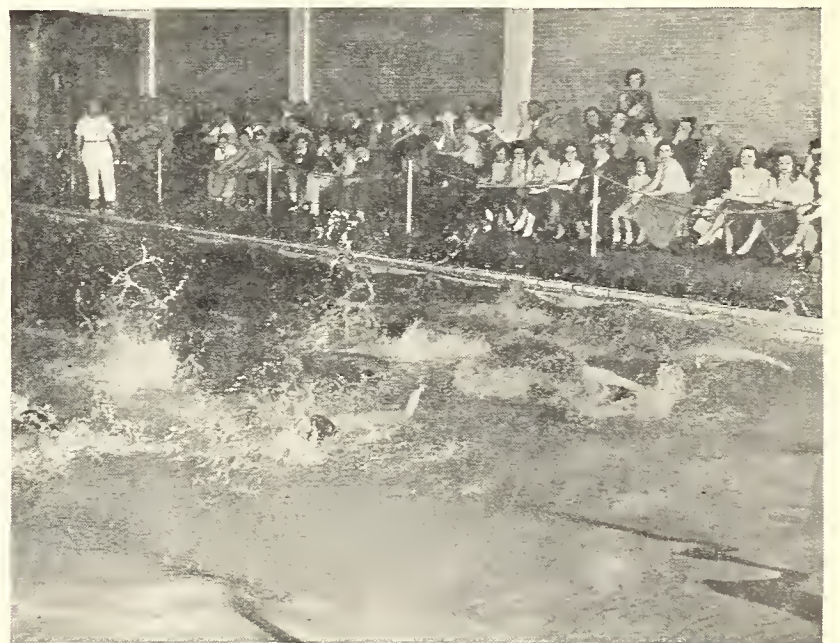

Phil Goodman's Greyhounds won three matches, all in the higher weight classes. Franny Meagher pulled an upset with a 9-0 decision over Ed Brown in the 165-pound class. Meagher barely beat out Brown in 1946 for the M-D championship, but hadn't done any wrestling since.

Carter Beese, 175-pounder, won over Joe Lapinski, 8-3; and Jeep Mueller vanquished Bill Schlimm, in the heavyweight division, with a body press at 4.38.

The results:

121-Pound Class—Brunsman, Hopkins, decision Weiss, 10-4.
128-Pound Class—Phillips, Hopkins, decision Haupt, 6-0.
136-Pound Class—Tighe, Hopkins, decision Agee, 3-0.
145-Pound Class—Leipold, Hopkins, tossed Krizan, 3.25 (cradle hold).
155-Pound Class—Smith, Hopkins, decision Bower, 5-3.
165-Pound Class—Meagher, Loyola, decision Brown, 9-0.
175-Pound Class—Beese, Loyola, decision Lapinski, 8-3.
Unlimited Class—Mueller, Loyola, tossed Schlimm, 4.38 (body press).

Splash-filled action in the Evergreen pool as Loyola out-swam Dickinson, 46-29, last Saturday.

by John Bailey

The Loyola swimming team scored a 46-29 victory over Dickinson College at Evergreen on January 9. Franny Mueller's Natators opened their campaign with a strong aggregation of swimmers who repeated last year's win over the Pennsylvanians by exactly the same score.

Although the Greyhounds were held to five firsts in the nine events, they placed consistently enough to finish far in front of their opponents. Loyola's victories came in diving, the 220-yard freestyle, the 50-yard freestyle, the 400-yard freestyle relay, and the 200-yard breaststroke.

Whitmore Stars

Dickinson presented an excellent swimming star in the person of Jack Whitmore. This crack sprinter swam off with both the 440 and the 100-yard freestyle races. Whitmore is the current Middle Atlantic Conference champion in the 100-yard freestyle event.

Greyhounds Top Albright With Second Half Rally

by Gerry McCormick

Loyola began the new year on a winning note by whipping a troublesome Albright quint, 72-59, on the Evergreen court. After a wild first half, which ended with the Greyhounds trailing 28-24, the Green and Grey put on a burst of scoring that carried them to an overwhelming lead in the third quarter.

Andy O'Donnell sparked Loyola throughout the game with his usual driving play, while marking up 21 points to take high scoring honors. He also proved spectacular in his floor play.

Third Quarter Rally

Neither team could put together a very polished attack in the first half. Time after time Loyola's shots rolled around the rim of the basket, but refused to drop through. This incredible run of bad luck

Xavier Beaten . . .

Pirates Win In Overtime

Loyola College, with Jim Lacy bearing the brunt of the attack, overcame a 19 point last quarter Seton Hall lead, before bowing in overtime, 67-64. The game, played on Wednesday, December 15, at South Orange, N. J., saw the underdog Greyhounds surge back after the Pirates had established a comfortable 54-35 margin going into the final session.

Once again it was the veteran Jim Lacy who supplied the punch for Coach Lefty Reitz's cagers. Jim, who scored only four points in the first half, suddenly came to life early in the third quarter and from then on, there was no stopping him. He racked up twelve field goals and three foul shots during that drive, to gain a nights total of 31 points. The most important of Lacy's goals, however, was the one which came in the final thirty seconds of the game, forcing the contest into an extra period.

In the third quarter the Green and Grey began to play their normal type of high scoring basketball.

Potent Attack Unleashed

A potent offense was unleashed which quickly erased the four point deficit in the score and then rolled into a comfortable lead.

Besides O'Donnell, three other Greyhounds hit double figures in the scoring parade: Mike Zedalis with 16 points, Bob Anderson with 12, and Jim Lacy with 11 were closely followed by Bill Johnson with six.

Clint Bamberger turned in his usual yeoman-like job in winning the grueling 200-yard breaststroke. Andy McCormick was the first Greyhound to turn in a 1949 victory, when he captured the 220-freestyle early in the meet.

Flash of action from Loyola's Wrestling meet at Towson State Teachers last Friday. The Greyhounds won in every weight class in blanking the host team, 34-0.

Freshman Squad Campaigning

The Loyola College Freshman team, posting a current record of three wins and three losses, looms as a comer in future contests. Dropping games to such powers as Villanova, St. Paul's High School, Mt. St. Joseph's, the "Pups" have more than redeemed themselves by besting St. Augustine's, Towson Catholic, and Loyola High.

The Frosh, after a hectic battle with a fine Towson Catholic team, registered a victory in the waning seconds of the game. Jim Lastner, who turned in a stellar performance, tallied the last two points just a few seconds before the final gun, to give the "Pups" a hard earned victory. "Reds" Schneider, diminutive Frosh guard, collected 14 points for a nice night's work. Action was brisk under the boards and the entire frosh team turned in fine performances.

Matmen, Natators Face Mid-January Activity

by Bob Bourbon

Loyola's winter athletes swing into a busy mid-January schedule today as the Greyhound Wrestling squad journeys to Catholic University for its third meet of the youthful season. Tomorrow the Green and Grey Swimming Team inaugurates its Mason-Dixon Campaign by traveling to American University, and next Saturday, January 22, the Tankmen play host to talent-laden La Salle College of Philadelphia, in the pool here at Evergreen.

Last year, Greyhound Wrestlers handed Catholic U. a sound 26 to 8 thumping, in winning all but two weight classes. However, from advanced information on the Washington outfit, this season's duel should be more strongly contested. Three of Loyola's winners in that affair, Steve Krizan in the 145 lb. class, Mus Bower in the 155 lb. division, and heavyweight Jeep Mueller are back again to plague the Cardinal opposition, and together with the Green and Grey's 165 lb. and 175 lb. representatives, Franny Meagher and Carter Beese, should hoist Loyola to the top of the heap.

Natators Face Twofold Task

The Greyhound Swimmers, under the tutelage of Franny Mueller, must face American U. in an away contest tomorrow; a team which they bested last season by a score of 53 to 22. The Eagles won only one event in that meeting, as Riggs breezed home first in the 150 yd. backstroke. Loyola's big guns then were Jack Blondell, 220 and 440 yd. freestyle, Clint Bamberger, 200 yd. breastroker, and Diver Johnny Mohler, and all three will be back at their posts again this year.

Much local attention will be focused on the meet with La Salle, as Loyola is aiming to do considerably better than the 56 to 19 loss to the visitors in 1948. The Explorers shape up as stronger than last year's outfit, which won 7, and lost 4 against the nation's best Colleges. Coach Joe Kirk has a squad with depth in every event, including several standout stars.

Olympic Champion Verdeur To See Action

The problem of stopping La Salle begins first with stopping their National and Olympic Breaststroke Champion, Joe Verdeur. Verdeur broke no less than six world records during the 1947-48 season, and poses as the Explorer's greatest single threat.

He is aided by Allen Rhodes, National Catholic 220 yd. freestyle champion in 1947, and Bob Regan, All-American Interscholastic freestyler in 1946 and 1947. These three, together with thirteen other skilled youngsters, go to make up the Explorers' squad.

Loyola Bows To Siena Five

It took a last minute rally to do so, but the up-state New Yorkers of Siena nosed out Loyola's Greyhounds in basketball by a 54-52 count. Playing before a benefit crowd of well over fifty-five hundred fans on Thursday, December 30 in Albany, N. Y. the host team quickly spurted to a 5-0 lead only to find the Greyhounds burn the cords with seven straight points to put the New Yorkers behind 7-5.

At this point the Siena five found that the green clad Loyolamen's speed could not be combatted with possession tactics. Then the game turned into a free scoring contest. This held true until the latter part of the game; at which time Siena successfully held the Greyhounds down with these defensive maneuvers.

At the halftime the Greyhounds had a 29-26 lead. For a while it seemed as if the men from below the Mason-Dixon were on their way as the Green and Grey took a 43-35 lead with but six minutes gone in the second half. But here the Green and Gold team from Albany took complete control of the ball and moved to a 52-48 lead with four minutes remaining. The Greyhounds then missed three straight foul shots while sinking two field goals. But this was not enough as Siena pulled ahead to win 54-52.

Jim Lacy was high scorer for the night with twelve points, while Russ led his Siena teammates with 10 markers.

Record Number Of Teams Enter Intramural Basketball Leagues

Basketball

A record entry of 28 teams has been turned in this year for intramural basketball. The games will be played on all days the varsity plays and during the week following exams, from 10 to 1 a. m.

Other irregular times will be set up on the Gym bulletin board throughout the tourney. The leagues are already in play, having started January 5. The winners of each of six leagues will battle in the playoffs with the double-loss elimination system determining the winner.

Foul Shooting Tournamant

The latest fad in the intramural lineup of Franny Mueller is a foul shooting tournament, organized by popular request. All interested parties should report to the Gym immediately after First Friday Mass on February 4. Each contestant will shoot 15 foul shots and the lowest third will be eliminated. The remaining men will shoot off the second round the following Friday. One-half of this group will be eliminated and the final group will have 15 more attempts. The best record in the 45 tries will win the tournament.

Bowling

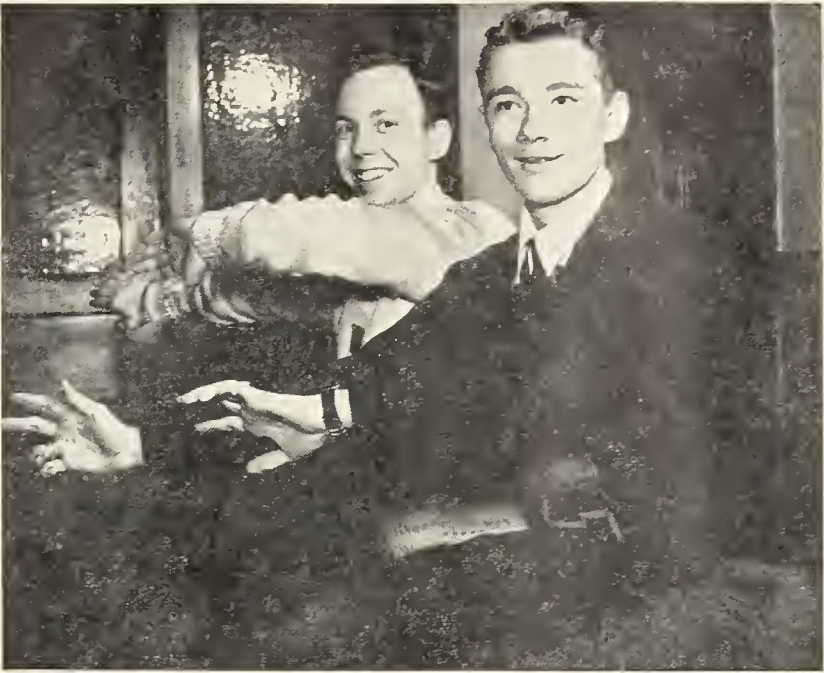

Loyola's second annual Intramural Bowling Tournament will begin on February 7 and continue for six weeks. The tournament was highly successful last year in its initial tryout.

Heading the list of bowlers will be Ed Ward, defending champ and Bud Norjen, runner-up. These men posted scores of 1807 and 1805, respectively, for 120 plus averages in 15 games.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second-place finishers. During the progress of the tournament these trophies will be on display in the Campus Shop.

The cost of each week's bowling is 60 cents, which includes games, pin-boy tips, prize money, etc. The games will be played at the Guilford Bowling Alleys, and may be rolled off any day except Sundays until 6 p. m. A further exception limits the Wednesday time from 4 to 6 p. m. Each man will roll three games a week at his convenience.

In reply to many questions concerning table-tennis, Mr. Mueller has announced that the tourney for all aspirants of ping-pong will take place in February, after mid-year examinations.

Rodge Kines and Dave Preller boost school spirit with their peppy cheer leading.

Spirited Cheer Leaders Need More Cooperation

Loyola's cheer leaders have organized firmly this year with one guiding purpose, the uniting of the student body behind their teams. So say Rodge Kines and Dave Preller, the subjects of this article.

The conductors of shout have been coordinating their contortions and they have found that this goes a long way toward molding a solid cheering section. This system, as tried at the early basketball games, has proved to be very effective. The volley of cheers has been inspiring.

Kines is in his third year at the megaphone for the Greyhounds. School spirit is synonymous with Rodge who is involved in numerous activities.

The other end of the megaphone is upheld by Preller. With a year of experience, Dave is an able booster of babble.

Two Teams Tie In Alumni Race

As a new round of play began, the standing in the Loyola Alumni Bowling League places two teams in a tie for the top rung of the ladder. The Class of '42 and the Class of '47 have both posted a 3-0 record to step out front in the race.

The '42 rollers include Hoyt, J. Russell, Disney, Thaler, C. Barrett, Herzer, B. Russell and Kaltenback. The Class of '47 squad is composed of McCollum, Crow, Brandon, Temmink and Garvey. Next in line comes two other teams with 2-1 logs, the class of '48 and the '44-45 grads.

Rector Scores High Set

For the December 21 competition, Rector of the Class of '40 came through with the high weekly set of 338, while P. Donohue, of the same team, had the high weekly game of 133 as their squad dropped two games while winning one.

Leading the bowlers in the individual average department is Fogarty '50 who shows an average of 108.83 for six games. The number two spot goes to McCollum '47 with a 104.62 mark in 42 games.

Sporting a 103.79 average, Feeley ranks third; Linardi, at 103.50 placed fourth and Tighe, at 103.33 is fifth. J. Donohue, at 102.82, Bower, at 102.17, and Wilkinson, at 102.00 rate sixth, seventh, and eighth respectively.

Greyhounds Prepare For Clashes With Tough Foes

by Bob Barnard

Tomorrow night the Loyola College Greyhounds will journey to Frederick, Maryland, to meet Mt. St. Mary's and then return home for successive games with Seton Hall and American University. St. Mary's and American are Mason-Dixon Conference foes.

The Mountaineers always come up with a very formidable team which causes M-D opponents to stand up and take notice. Last year they made the Greyhounds go all out to win, twice, in games that many thought would be pushovers for the high flying men from Loyola. This year will be no exception, as the men from the Mount have come up with another good squad paced by high scoring Pete Clark, who was the main factor in St. Mary's good showing on the hardwood last season.

Next in line on the Greyhounds schedule is Seton Hall from South Orange, New Jersey, which for many years has been one of the top basketball powers in the East. Up to now, the Setonites have lost only to William and Mary, and Louisville University, and in every game have shown a fast-breaking, flashy offense and a sturdy defense paced by co-captain Frank Saul. The boys from New Jersey edged the Greyhounds in their opening game this year, 67 to 64, in an overtime period.

Following the men from New Jersey on the Green and Grey schedule is American University from Washington, D. C., the third Mason-Dixon Conference foe this season. The men from A. U. possess a great deal of speed and experience and are potentially the best ball club floored by the school in many years. The squad is paced by Roy Ishman and Bob Lamon, and a fine newcomer in Ronnie Garshag, who stands 6 feet 6 inches and tips the scales at around 200 pounds. These boys figure to give Lefty Reitz and his charges one of their toughest M-D games this season.

Out-Of-Towners Hold Elections

First elections of the Cosmopolitan Club were held January 6, when Andy O'Donnell was chosen as President. Gene Corrigan was named Secretary, and Mike Zedalis, Treasurer.

O'Donnell is a senior and Ph.B. candidate. He resides in Freeland, Pa. as does Mike Zedalis. They room together in Rogers Forge. Zedalis is a Ph.B. Junior, and has played with O'Donnell for two years on the first string Varsity basketball squad. Corrigan is NFCCS delegate for Loyola, and is a member of THE GREYHOUND staff and the Dramatic society. He is a Sophomore in the A.B. course, and lives on the Isle of Palms, S. C.

The newest of the extra-curricular activities, the Cosmopolitan Club is one of the largest. There are fifty-five members on the rolls. Their addresses range from Augusta, Ga. to Chicago, Ill. John Bailey, who helped found the club, is in charge of framing a constitution. He foresees a social and useful organization, representing the out-of-town students as a distinct group with distinct problems and serving as a "home away from home" socially.

Sun Publishes Student Photos

Two picture-features, taken by James K. Lightner of THE GREYHOUND staff, have recently been published by the metrogravure section of The Sunday Sun. Lightner made a set of pictures of the re-showing of Loyola Night for the Catholic orphans of the city and another of the Mount St. Agnes College play "Years Ago".

Lightner is Photography Editor of the 1949 Evergreen. He is also handling the make-up duties on that publication because of his belief that the two positions should be held by the same man. In relation to this Lightner said, "I believe that one man should make up the book and take the pictures because only the make-up man knows exactly what pictures he needs. I am making a concerted attempt to help in producing a really fine book by combining all the unique ideas I have seen, with a few of my own."

Meet The Faculty:

Musical Groups Find Able Leader In Felice Iula

Felice Iula

Loyola's musical director, Felice I. Iula, has proven himself the most capable man to be found for this position. His long and varied experience bears this out.

He is a graduate of the New England Conservatory in Boston where he majored in the harp, the Peabody Conservatory of Music and the Chris Johnson Choral Directors' School. At 18 he was harpist with the touring Grand Opera and in a short time became its conductor.

Friend Of Victor Herbert

A personal friend of Victor Herbert, he worked with him in a number of conducting and composing capacities. He has also worked with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians for many production numbers in New York's Roxy Theater.

Working for Warner Brothers for several years, he conducted many concerts and prologues to shows in Warners Brothers Theaters all over the country. His travels have carried him over Canada, the United States and Mexico twice.

Popular In Baltimore

Mr. Iula has been extremely popular in Baltimore for his conducting at the Stanley, Hippodrome and old Rivoli theaters. He has also had the honor of conducting the premier of Pacinni's opera, "Girl of the Golden West".

After five years at WBAL, Mr. Iula came to Evergreen as musical director in 1947 where he has proven outstanding with his Glee Club and the musical arrangement for Loyola's original production, "Marelyn".

Four Marital Well-Wishers Join Groom On Honeymoon

by Robert Custer

Anything can happen to a Loyola man, and, as a matter of fact, it usually does; but a Loyola man set some sort of a record or other, when he had four extra men accompany him on his honeymoon.

Joseph Cannizzarro, '49, was married on December 18 at St. Ambrose's Church. The wedding went as planned, everything was smooth and on schedule. The reception was perfect, the wedding breakfast went off nicely, and most of the wedding party drove to the station to see the new Mr. and Mrs. off on their wedding trip.

Four of the husky young men in the group, protesting that a bridegroom should do no work, helped the couple aboard the train, carrying the baggage. Two of these four were married men, their wives at the station; the other two had their dates, also among the well-wishers. One of the four was still dressed in his formal wedding clothes.

The noble four were busily regaling not only the bridal couple, but the entire car with the usual banter and useless bits of non-helpful advice, when they were interrupted by the conductor saying, "Tickets, tickets. Next stop is Philadelphia!" And lo! There were four extra males on the wedding journey.

An interesting sidelight on the whole situation was, when the train was pulling out with the unscheduled passengers aboard, one of the girls in the station turned to her neighbor, and laughingly said, "Don't look now, but your husband is on that train." The stranded wife turned to the girl, and laughingly said, "Ha, ha, so is yours!"

When last heard from, three of the four had reached Wilmington.

Library Holds Poster Contest

The Loyola College Library will sponsor a poster contest in conjunction with Catholic Book Week, February 20-26. Miss Anne M. Finnan, College Librarian, invited all Loyola students to participate in the competition.

The contest will open on January 14 and will close on February 14. The theme of the contest is not restricted to any particular subject, and the winning poster will win a prize of five dollars for its student author. Posters should not be larger than 24" by 32".

Despite the non-restricted theme, the librarians mentioned the following subjects as possible helps for the contestants: Use of the Library, Values in Good Reading, Traveling with Books, Old Books Are Best, Hobby Reading, Stranger Than Fiction and Holiday Reading.

The Rev. Atlee F. X. Devereux, S. J., Dr. John V. Walsh and Miss Finnan will serve as the board of judges for the contest. Entries will be considered on a basis of originality and neatness.
